

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates generally to therapeutic methods and compositions. More particularly, methods and compositions to counteract and reverse disease-causing signaling defects in diseases with underlying signal transduction aberrations, including but not limited to Alzheimer's Disease.

5